Woman Tells Fib to Win Speech Title

Mrs. Jean Rhodes, of 2844 W. 239th St., told a big fib about catching catfish in a mouse trap and not only got away with it but was offered free to prize as well.

The occasion was a contest among members of the Public Speaking Adult Class of Torrance, held last Monday night. Twelve speakers tried to outdo each other in exaggerating the truth and Mrs. Rhodes came in first, while Lloyd Tyson, of 616 E. Carson St., was the runner-up. Chairman of the evening was Louis Bereskin, speech instructor at North High. Judging the contest were Mrs. Mae Massler and Messrs. B. Nosek and L. Bereskin.

These courses in public speaking are being offered free to the public under the direction of the Adult Education Department of the Torrance Unified School District. Training is offered in curing stage fright, salesmanship, oral interpretation and effective speaking. Classes are held Monday nights at Torrance High School.

Navy Recruiting Station Opened

A U. S. Navy recruiting station has been opened in Torrance at 1526 Cravens Ave. and is in full operation, it was reported here yesterday by Chief Robert S. Kronberger, recruiter in charge of this recruiting district.

Chief Kronberger also announced that the new recruiting station will be under the command of Chief Keith W. Morrison, a veteran of more than 20 years service. Chief Morrison resided at 5256 Bindevald Rd., with his wife, Sue Ann, and their new daughter, Susan Jean.

Chief Morrison has served on a number of vessels of the fleet in both the Pacific and Atlantic and before reporting for recruiting duty was stationed aboard the USS Cadmus.

All former shipmates have been invited to visit Chief Morrison at his office. Inquiries also are invited concerning Navy and the other enlistment programs offered other young men of today.

GRAPHITE IMPORTS

From 60 to 80 per cent of the graphite currently used in the U. S. is imported.

Rose Patent Gives Reward

Unless you were an enthusiastic rose gardener, perhaps you would never know there were patented and non-patented roses. The patent is a reward and encouragement to the hybridizer to produce more and better rose varieties and is proof of performance in certain areas and under certain environmental conditions. While older variety roses may have never been patented practically every new rose has.

Many gardeners assume a patent stands equal to an All-America award; however, this is not true. The patent and the award are entirely different.

Thus while the patented rose does carry this proof of performance, the non-patent does not, and it is important that you consult your nurseryman before investing in a non-patent variety. He can advise as to the performance of the favorite non-patent variety in your locality.

Beautiful red non-patent roses include the Christopher Stone, Crimson Glory and Etiole de Hollande, all acclaimed fine performers. Orange non-patents are the Autumn, President Hoover and Tallman. Available in pink the Picture, Lulu, J. Otto Thlow and Dainty Bess rank high as fine roses. And there are many more non-patent roses in other colors that are highly recommended by the California Association of Nurserymen as being great roses. All the above-mentioned rose varieties are bush roses; there are non-patent varieties in the Climber, Pillar, Floribunda and Polyantha rose types, too.
